

LADY GREY

Lady Grey is tucked away in a valley below the awesome Witteberg Mountain Range. Lady Grey was established on the farm Waaihoek, purchased by the Dutch Reformed Church of Aliwal North on 30 April 1857 for the purpose of founding a new congregation. It was named in honour of Eliza Lucy Grey (née Spencer), daughter of Sir Richard Spencer, and wife of Sir George Grey the Cape governor. Reverend Wolhuter took over the congregation from Rev. David Ross in 1908. The Dutch Reformed Church was built under his leadership in 1913. Today this beautiful sandstone church is a National Monument. The Lady Grey Dam was built in 1925 by a Mr. Stromsoe, a Norwegian engineer. The wall is 25m high and you can walk up a natural staircase to the top of the dam wall.
